On the Cover

Found at the West End of the Kentucky Capitol is the first monument honoring a woman on state-owned land, the monument honors Nettie Depp.

Nettie Depp (1874-1932), born and raised in Glasgow, KY represents extraordinary leadership as a teacher, principal, elected official, and advocate. In 1913, seven years before women earned the right to vote, Depp was elected as Superintendent of Barren County Schools, becoming the first female elected official in the county.

Nettie was the daughter of John Burks Depp, a member of the Kentucky House of Representatives, and Mariba Elizabeth Reneau Depp and was one of six children. She became a teacher and principal, an education reformer. Her experience and determination to enact change made her a prime candidate for the upcoming superintendent election. Local school superintendents were not selected by a school board, but rather they were elected by the voters and were considered to be county officials.

On January 1, 1914, Depp became the county's first female officeholder, in addition to her modest salary, she was provided an office and an apartment in the county courthouse. In her time in office, one of her greatest accomplishments was the creation of Barren County's first four-year high school. School enrollment jumped from 20 students to over 70 and the faculty doubled in size, within two-year the number of students grew to 106.

During her term, Depp also partnered with the University of Kentucky Agriculture Extension office to create a corn and tomato club within the public school, according to Depp this eventually became the first 4-H club in the county.

After her term as superintendent, she continued to serve as a teacher and principal until her death on August 3, 1932. An estimated 1,500 people attended her funeral underscoring her impact on the community, education, and the people she knew.

Nettie Depp has been honored by many awards and accolades since her years of service. Amanda Matthews, Sculptor stated that this sculpture not only represents an accomplished woman but reflects civil rights, women's contributions to society, and voices of unity and inclusion through public art. Matthews is an internationally recognized, award-winning sculptor/designer of public art, and the CEO of Prometheus Foundry, LLC.

From the Chairman

Barren Inc is honored to serve our local business community and is excited to share this publication to spotlight what makes Barren County a great place to live and work! We are a growing and thriving Chamber of Commerce, supporting a growing and thriving community that many proudly call home.

In this 2022/2023 edition of the Chamber Magazine, you will find inspiring stories of small business success, growth in our industrial sector, amazing opportunities in our educational systems, and useful information and resources for both new and established residents. These only begin to capture what makes our community so special. The more you explore, the more you will understand why Barren County is such an incredible place.

The Member Directory, located at the back of the magazine, lists all Barren Inc members who provide valuable services to residents. We could not provide the services that we do as a Chamber without their support. From Accommodations to Veterinarians, there is an opportunity for everyone to support local businesses!

We look forward to continuing to serve both our residents and business community through this publication and in many more vital and innovative ways.

Barren County Schools

Barren County School District is known for its innovative, caring culture. Comprised of seven elementary schools, one middle school, one high school, a freshman academy, and one alternative learning center, the district currently serves approximately 5,300 students in preschool through 12th grade. We are also home to the Barren County Innovation Zone and BAVEL, a virtual school for grades k-12. Additionally, Barren County Area Technology Center, a regional facility, is located on our high school campus.

Barren County Schools offers a pipeline of success by providing options for each student from preschool to post-secondary. Through rigorous instruction, magnet school programs, and accelerated classroom spaces, Barren County works to challenge students academically in a variety of ways.

With 35 career pathways, BC students are prepared for the transition to work or post-secondary education. We have a magnet program that begins in our middle school and continues in our high school, and our high school offers a wide range of AP and dual credit courses. Fine arts, student organizations, and athletic programs ensure that students are life-ready as they develop soft skills to succeed in personal and professional relationships.

Our focus in the Barren County School District is on preparing students for life. The mission of our district, “Where Opportunity Creates Success,” along with our vision “BeCome Life Ready” are reinforced by our core values:

- Serving others through teamwork and collaboration
- Providing learning experiences that promote content mastery and critical thinking
- Demonstrating creativity and inventiveness in your work
- Taking ownership to find your path to success
- Being accountable for producing high-quality results
- Communicating in a peaceful and productive manner

Through caring staff, high-quality instruction, innovative programming, and a safe environment, we provide experiences and create opportunities to ensure our students are equipped to succeed in life.

Caverna Independent School District CAVE CITY

Caverna Independent Schools comprises a vibrant part of the community and takes its job of educating Caverna’s youth seriously. We embrace the challenge of blending the many voices of our community who desire schools that deliver a world-class education to all students. It is the goal of Caverna Independent Schools to provide a climate of academic excellence for all students regardless of gender, academic, ethnic, or socioeconomic status, within an environment that promotes and models the seven habits of highly successful people.

Our school and community share the vision of empowering students to make wise life choices and become productive citizens and of helping them to realize their dreams by seeing an unfathomed world of possibilities. Caverna Schools achieves excellence in academics and activities because it enjoys strong support from parents, alumni, businesses, the ministerial alliance, and other generous contributors and volunteers. These important partners for success help our students achieve excellence by “linking learning to life.”

Barren County Area Technology Center

Located on the campus of Barren County High School, the Barren County ATC (Area Tech Center) serves students from Barren County High School, Caverna High School, Glasgow High School, & Hart County High School. The facility currently offers 12 programs:

|-------------------------------|----------------------------|--------------------------------------|
| Automotive | Business Management | Computer-Aided Drafting (CAD) |
| Computer Programming | Construction | Diesel |
| Electricity | Health Sciences | HVAC |
| Industrial Maintenance | Machine Tool | Welding |

The ATC offers co-op programs, apprenticeships and internships to seniors that are industry certified and meet the qualifications. This allows students to get real world training while in high school. Along with industry certifications, students are able to become OSHA-10 certified in the construction industry for that pathway. Students are also eligible to receive dual credit for their courses at the ATC for their post-secondary route at SouthCentral Kentucky Community & Technical College (SKYCTC).

Barren County ATC works closely with local business & industry to identify workplace needs in our community. They work together to close the gaps in the workplace while also serving the students needs and wants while in high school & trying to plan for their pathway to success.

Ashley Burd is the fifth principal of Barren County ATC, which was originally called Glasgow Vocational School & then renamed as the Barren County Vocational School in 1974. Ms. Burd follows in the footsteps of Bob Sullivan, Don Williams, Max Doty, & Hal Toms.

Glasgow City Schools

My name is Katie Lester. I am a freshman attending the University of Kentucky and I am currently in the First Year Engineering program and I am also majoring in Mechanical Engineering. Glasgow High School prepared me more than I probably realized with the future that is ahead of me. They have not only taken the responsibility of our high school careers but the beginning of our future ones as well. They don't just want to see us walk across the stage with a high school diploma, they want us to be prepared for the next steps of our lives.

At Glasgow, there is an engineering program called Project Lead the Way. Through this program you can get insight on particular fields that you are interested in such as aerospace, computer science, electrical and civil engineering. I completed the electrical engineering pathway, which sparked my interest in pursuing an engineering degree. Transition to Engineering class is the first class you will take as a freshman if you were to attend the University of Kentucky. Glasgow is one of the few schools who have been certified to offer the class. This has allowed me to have the chance to complete two college credits towards an engineering degree at UK. I have learned the basics of a programming language called MATLAB. MATLAB allows you to write code that tells a machine component what task you want it to complete. Another part of the engineering department is TSA, a club where students interested in stem can combine other interests outside the stem field. I have been a part of this club for three years and have competed in unmanned aerial vehicle competitions.

Overall, I can say I wouldn't change anything about going Glasgow High School. I can confidently say that I would not be the person standing here today if I had gone anywhere else. You can never 100% prepare for the future, but you can have a strong base to start on and that is exactly what this school has done for me – A strong foundation.

Barren County High School Graduates Take Advantage of SKYCTC Scholarships

More than 700 students who graduated from area high schools in spring 2022 are eligible for the new SKY Merit and enhanced DC to Finish scholarships at Southcentral Kentucky Community and Technical College (SKYCTC). Barren County and Glasgow Schools had 96 students eligible for either a SKY Merit or DC to Finish scholarship representing a total of $273,000 in merit-based scholarship dollars!

The number of scholarships awarded across SKYCTC's service area is a testament to the high caliber of students graduating from local schools. In fact, high school graduates are entering SKYCTC with an average high school GPA of 3.2*. This means that the average first-time incoming student could receive $2,000 per year with the SKY Merit scholarship, which is about half the cost of a full year of tuition.

SKYCTC's affordable tuition and the opportunity to graduate with little to no student debt have drawn much attention from savvy high school students and their parents. Students like Chloe Cook, a 2022 high school graduate, are looking more closely at the wages of their future careers and considering the impact of tuition costs and student debt. Chloe started at SKYCTC this fall and is taking advantage of the DC to Finish Scholarship while she studies to become a high school math teacher. "I come from a small high school and didn't want to start at a university right away," says Chloe Cook. "My high school counselor spoke very highly of SKY, and since I got the DC to Finish scholarship, I knew SKY would be the best choice for me. So far, my experience has been great! My instructors seem like they really care."

For complete scholarship details and requirements, please visit skyctc.edu.

Students who choose SKYCTC get a high return on investment. SKYCTC offers world-class instructors, small classes, and hands-on experiences that lead to high-demand careers in our region. Students and parents are invited to visit a campus and learn about the many resources available to graduate from college without student debt. Visit skyctc.edu for information about programs or to schedule a tour.

*average GPA of incoming first-time freshman from 2018-2021

Here are a few of the scholarship opportunities at SKYCTC:

- The DC to Finish Scholarship is the top-tier of the SKYCTC merit scholarships offered to first-time first-year students beginning Fall 2022. It provides $5,000 per academic year to students who complete nine or more SKYCTC dual credit hours with a SKYCTC GPA of 3.0 or better.
- College scholarships are also available by category. Some scholarships are general need-based scholarships for students in any field, while others are dedicated to students in specific disciplines, such as culinary arts, HVAC, and nursing.
- The SKY Merit Scholarship is also for first-time first-year students beginning Fall 2022. The annual award amount ranges from $1,000 to $4,000 and is based on the student's high school GPA.
- The Work Ready Kentucky Scholarship (WRKS) can pay a student's total tuition bill. WRKS is not based on a student's income and allows students to earn up to 60 credit hours in high-demand career fields. Nearly all programs offered at SKYCTC qualify for the WRKS.

WKU in Glasgow Marks 20th Anniversary of Campus - Looks Ahead to the Future

In 2002, WKU Glasgow officially opened its beautiful new campus at 500 Hilltopper Way in Glasgow. The hilltop campus was the culmination of tireless efforts to establish a permanent home for the regional campus to bring even more educational opportunities to the citizens of Barren and surrounding counties.

This October, WKU celebrated the 20th anniversary of WKU in Glasgow's permanent home, with a nod to WKU's rich history in Glasgow-Barren County and a look ahead at its vision for serving future generations throughout this great region.

Looking Toward the Future

WKU is committed to offering four-year degrees at the WKU in Glasgow campus. Students complete the entirety of WKU's Colonnade plan, or general education requirements, at the Glasgow campus. Students then finish their degree in Glasgow, online, or in Bowling Green. High-demand fields like Elementary Education, Middle Grades Education, Public Health, Criminology, Psychology, Health Sciences, and many others are offered at WKU in Glasgow. Students can also earn a dual certification in Elementary Education/Special Education.

WKU in Glasgow staff work hand-in-hand with WKU Admissions, visit area high school students, attend community events, and provide guidance through the enrollment process.

Making higher education affordable and accessible for high school graduates and adult learners is a top priority. In fall 2022, nearly 85% of WKU's incoming class received institutional scholarship support!

WKU has made affording college easy through:

The Hilltopper Guarantee ensures 100% tuition coverage for any first-time, first-year freshman from Kentucky who receives Pell Grant assistance and has at least a 3.0 cumulative unweighted high school GPA.

Automatic Academic Merit Scholarships are available for students with a 3.0 unweighted GPA. These are offered automatically after first-time freshmen apply to WKU with no separate application.

TOPDollar is WKU's single application to find all privately supported scholarships the University offers. Students are matched to scholarships based on factors such as geographic location, major field of study, involvement in extracurricular activities, hobbies and interests, associations and memberships, specific personal characteristics, or financial need.

Transfer Scholarships are automatically offered in amounts up to $4,000 annually to transfer students; there is no separate application.

“Early College at WKU in Glasgow creates a new opportunity for high school students to fully immerse in the college experience and get an affordable jumpstart on their WKU degree.”

*Dr. Derick Strode
WKU Regional Campus Director*

New Early College of WKU in Glasgow

Beginning fall 2023, select area high school students will have the opportunity to complete their first year of college at WKU in Glasgow through the new Early College program. Students will earn 30 hours of college credit during their high school junior and senior years by taking classes at WKU in Glasgow alongside current WKU college students.

“Early College at WKU in Glasgow creates a new opportunity for high school students to fully immerse in the college experience and get an affordable jumpstart on their WKU degree,” said WKU Regional Campus Director Dr. Derick Strode.

According to Dr. Strode, five Professional Career Tracks were selected based on workforce needs in the region:

Agriculture Business Management
Crime & Legal Studies Elementary Education
Nursing (BSN)

Students will take college courses within their selected track at WKU in Glasgow each morning and finish the day each afternoon at their high school. They will also take two field trips each semester: one to WKU Bowling Green campus and one to a local business within the student’s Professional Career Track.

Tuition will be billed to students at the dual credit rate, which is a fraction of typical tuition rates, and KHEAA Work Ready & Dual Credit Scholarships will also be available to cover most courses.

Participating schools are those in Glasgow and Barren County, as well as some immediately adjacent counties.

Info sessions will begin at participating high schools in November. Students must apply through their high school during their sophomore year and will be selected in March 2023 to prepare for their Fall 2023 start.

Hilltoppers Are Here

WKU in Glasgow’s Long-Standing History

The citizens of Glasgow and Barren County realize the value of higher education dating back to the mid-1800s when institutions of higher learning were created in the county. For nearly 40 years, Western Kentucky University has been part of that tradition.

1986 WKU began offering nursing classes in Glasgow. Students took classes in loaned out classrooms from TJ Samson Community Hospital and local high schools.

1988 On February 7, 1988, the WKU Glasgow Regional Campus officially opened on the Liberty Street campus.

2002 WKU Glasgow officially established a permanent home on the new 30-acre campus on Hilltopper Way.

2010 Dr. Juanita Bayless retires as WKU Glasgow Director after holding that position for many years.

2013 WKU celebrated its 25th year as a WKU regional campus.

2018 WKU announced Climbing to Greater Heights, a 10-Year Strategic Plan which included a renewed commitment to being fully engaged in the region and increasing affordability, accessibility, completion, and success for students.

2022 As WKU in Glasgow celebrated its 20th anniversary on Hilltopper Way, WKU President Timothy C. Caboni announced plans for the future of the campus. These included the University’s recommitment to offering four-year degrees in Glasgow and the announcement of Early College at WKU in Glasgow – a program for area high school students to get a jumpstart on their WKU college careers.

Yesterday, Today, Tomorrow

In 1937 Dr. Graves and Dr. Gilbert partnered to create Graves Gilbert Clinic, which was not a common practice for the time. Over the next 85 years they grew their clinic to best service the growing community to now have over 200 providers, representing 30 medical specialties, and over 20 locations spanning the South Central Kentucky area.

Graves Gilbert Clinic has been serving our patients and their families for 85 years and hope to continue their expert care for many more years to come.

T.J. Regional Health

T.J. Regional Health focuses on providing Total Local Care to the people of South Central Kentucky. We strive to provide our patients and their families with healthcare that is of the highest quality, and that is respectful, compassionate, and convenient. Our culture is driven by the fact that we are people you know, caring for people you love.

The organization is anchored by T.J. Samson Community Hospital, a 196-bed acute-care facility in Glasgow that is fully accredited by The Joint Commission. The T.J. Health Pavilion opened in 2013 and provides patient access to specialty clinics and outpatient services. T.J. Regional Health acquired a second hospital, T.J. Health Columbia, in 2016, and also operates numerous Rural Health Clinics in the south central Kentucky region as well as a residential hospice home and even a Medical Spa.

T.J. Samson Community Hospital, certified as an Acute Stroke Ready hospital, has earned Accreditations from the American College of Cardiology and the Commission on Cancer, and was recently named a top tier exemplary practice in rural healthcare transformation by the National Rural Accountable Care Consortium (NRACC).

We know that there are people every day who need healthcare services for themselves or their family members to remain healthy. We are happy that so many choose T.J. Regional Health to meet their healthcare needs.

T.J. Regional Health has experienced tremendous growth over the past decade, and the organization has played a critical role in caring for the residents in our communities for more than 90 years. Recent growth and expansion means access to highly-specialized care is available to people in this area eliminating the need to travel long distances to see a specialist.

Whether it's cardiology, surgery, women's health, or any number of other options, T.J. Regional Health offers a wide range of specialty care. In addition, the growth in the primary care sector has been phenomenal over the last few years, not just in Glasgow, but also in surrounding communities in South Central Kentucky.

A community hospital is important for more than just access to care. It is also important for community support offered in a variety of ways. The hospital is often the largest employer in the county, as is the case at T.J. Samson Community Hospital. We are proud to be involved in the community by serving at the local soup kitchen, supporting area food pantries, sponsoring youth sports, and by being actively involved in our local school systems, community theater, and more.

Our focus is to distinguish ourselves as a regional healthcare leader. Despite many changes throughout our 93-year history, one thing has remained constant; the commitment to ensure that our hospitals, outpatient services and clinics are the best places for patients to seek care, for our providers to practice, and for our team members to work. T.J. Regional Health is committed to providing safe, quality care, and to deliver on our promise to treat all patients like our friends and family.

Senior LIVING

Barren County, like areas throughout the country, has a large senior population that requires a variety of senior housing alternatives to meet their diverse needs. Among seniors, generally age 65 or older, some individuals are either seeking a more leisurely lifestyle or need assistance with activities of daily living. Barren County has many options to choose from when it comes to senior living facilities.

Hometown Manor of Glasgow is an assisted living community in Glasgow, Kentucky. It can house a maximum of 12 senior citizens at a time. It is located at 201 Trista Ln. and helps elderly adults who need assistance with daily living tasks. Hometown Manor of Glasgow provides amenities that include an arts & crafts studio, a 24-hour café and daily entertainment.

Glenview Health Care Facility is a luxurious assisted senior living facility that provides a library, Church services, transportation, and other excellent amenities. It supports 60 assisted living units. Glenview Health Care Facility is available to all Barren County elderly residents in need of assisted living, situated at 1002 Glenview Dr. in Glasgow, Kentucky.

NHC Healthcare is an elderly assisted housing facility that offers a library, pet therapy, daily entertainment as well as other amenities, located at 109 Homewood Blvd. and provides assisted living to all Barren County older adults. It provides 194 senior living units in total.

Highland Ridge Assisted Living is a senior care and living facility located at 180 Scottie Dr. that provides a beauty salon, dementia care and daily activities. Locally owned and operated, they make every effort to create a friendly, comfortable, and safe atmosphere for their residents.

BARREN COUNTY FAMILY
YMCA

THE BARREN COUNTY Family YMCA

On Valentine's Day in 1992, the Barren County Family YMCA opened its doors to a community that has shown a tremendous amount of support from day one. A movement as bold as a YMCA would need a leader just as bold, and that was Dr. Barrett Lessenberry. Over three decades later, his love for the Y has not changed and he refers to it as his "oldest child". Since the doors opened thirty years ago, the Barren County Family YMCA has taught over 45,000 children to swim, provided childcare in times of emergency, helped seniors have a better quality of life, inspired athletes, welcomed young people, and most importantly, the YMCA has stayed true to the idea that "together we can make a difference".

Our seniors count on programs such as SilverSneakers, which help them to stay active and sharp. Dozens of young people are enrolled in the Y's after-school programs and twice that many attend summer camp at the Y. The need for youth programs is on the rise and the Y is always on the lookout for opportunities to grow our programs to help meet that need. Recent additions like boxing and mindfulness, or old favorites like Yoga, provide opportunities to work out as a family and can keep the attention of even the most rambunctious child.

In a continued effort to support the youth and families our YMCA partners with WellCare of Kentucky insurance to provide no-cost memberships to policyholders within the community. This allows the YMCA to reach a portion of the community that may not have given our movement a chance previously. We have seen a vast improvement in the morale of new members as they embark on the path to living a healthier lifestyle. What has stood out to us the most is that many members who receive membership through WellCare have attended the facility every day since joining, which to us symbolizes a strong need within the community. It was this observation that made us realize we may need to take heavy consideration into expanding our focus within other communities, not just different age groups. To meet these needs we need hands-on support from the community.

As you can imagine not everything in our community is perfect. As a non-profit entity, we have faced the same challenges from the pandemic as any other organization. A struggle to find volunteer support for local programs and labor shortages have made it a challenge to meet the rise in crucial community needs. There are many people within the community who are not aware that the YMCA is a private organization, which means your YMCA is funded in full by the support it receives from the community. It has been a crucial part of our mission to educate the public about how we operate. To ensure that the public knows that we are more than just a swimming pool and workout facility. The Y plays a pivotal role in helping lead nonprofit initiatives within the Southcentral Kentucky region. Without support from everyday folks like you, the YMCA doesn't serve its mission.

We know that money is tight these days, and if you can't shell out, you can just show up, as volunteers are a big part of our success. Volunteer support is a key indicator of a strong YMCA and a strong community. Folks can help lead and guide youth through our after-school, teen, and summer camp programs. Help with community service projects like roadside clean-up for the county. Serving at the community soup kitchen in the liberty district. Speak with the elderly to help with senior isolation. Donate non-perishable food items to help those who struggle with food insecurity. Donate arts & craft material and so much more. 9 times out of 10 the most powerful donation you can provide to any organization is yourself.

The membership roster at the Y is as diverse as the programs that are offered. People from different backgrounds, socioeconomic statuses, and places, come together on a level playing field at the Y. On any given day, those making six figures sweat next to, and just as much, as those who may be paying a discounted membership, because they are all part of the Y family. When folks donate time to their community, it has a massive impact on everyone. It also makes it much harder for folks to be cynical about moving forward together. We are certain that a community that works together is better together. We encourage you to visit the YMCA and see what we have to offer you. Again, we are so much more than a pool and gym we are a community center, a family and we would love nothing more than to call you a proud member.

Take a Closer Look at Barren County

Nestled between two major cities, Louisville, KY to the north and Nashville, TN to the south and central among major highways and interstates, Barren County is the perfect central location within the Southeast. Barren County offers easy access to rail services, two international airports, a highly skilled and available workforce, top ranking education systems including a four-year university and a technical college campus, all this located within a day's drive of most major markets.

The Barren County Economic Authority is the leading economic development organization for Barren County, with a primary mission to promote economic development through the retention and expansion of existing business and industry, attraction of new business and industry and support infrastructure development that meets the needs of business and industry.

With this mission in mind, the Authority has completed the development of Highland Glen Industrial Park with a 100,000 sf speculative building, that sold in August 2022. Product development continued at the South Cooper Industrial Park with the completion of two pad ready sites, a new access road and the widening and turn lanes on 68/80 and work began in Cave City's Chapatcha Park to develop three pad ready sites directly off of I-65. Barren County is ready to serve new and growing industries that will benefit from all the community has to offer.

To encourage investment and job growth in the community, industries can receive local and state incentives. Resources such as the Kentucky Business Investment Program (KBI), a wage tax incentive, the Kentucky Enterprise Initiative Act (KEIA), that provides a sales tax abatement on building and construction materials, and access to the Kentucky Skills Network, which offers companies no-cost recruitment and job placement services, reduced-cost customized training and job training incentives. In Barren County, we are the one-stop shop to help coordinate all of your economic development needs, from site selection to incentives and talent recruitment, training and retention.

TURNING IDEAS INTO REALITY

REPLICA SCREENPRINTING, LLC

As the top woman-owned screenprinter in Kentucky, Heather Streible, co-owner of Replica Screenprinting, is known for her attention to detail and commitment to producing a superior product for schools, businesses, teams, competitive events or any other occasion.

Upon meeting Heather, what initially catches your eye may be the brightly colored pink, blue, or sometimes purple hair which is a reflection of her fun, outgoing personality. As you get to know Heather, it becomes apparent that she exudes a confidence and approachability that appears natural but is born through the journey of finding her place, constantly striving for a better version of herself, and the alignment of her gifts and passions to carry out what she is truly meant to do. She can be described as a perfectionist at her craft, a strong woman (literally), a community builder and a genuine friend to many who know her.

Mixed in with the demands of small business is Heather's commitment to community. She currently serves as President of BLDG (Business Leader Development Group) which is an organization hard at work revitalizing Cave City. Another passion, weightlifting, was born out of the desire to be a positive influence for her niece. This hobby has resulted in her holding world records in squats, deadlift and strict curl through 365 Strong World Powerlifting Federation.

It's this commitment to improving herself, her community and being an example for other females that influences her approach to business. Replica Screenprinting, an apparel, screenprinting and promotional products company was established in 2005. Heather and her mom, Melissa, purchased the business together in 2015 and moved it to Cave City. Heather takes great pride in utilizing high end graphics and design work to produce a premium quality product.

Replica's product lines include t-shirts, promotional materials and almost any other type of printed apparel. She and her dedicated staff are able to screenprint orders from a couple dozen shirts to a few thousand while giving their customers fast, reliable service.

Her work related to quality, design and the utilization of half tones has been written about on some of the top screenprinting blogs in the country. As an artist and someone that invested in her community, Heather truly enjoys giving life to other's ideas. Heather's company has the ability to build online stores, provides an online design studio, and ships all over the world. As the Covid pandemic became a reality this value-added service allowed her to promote campaigns to aid struggling businesses.

Local Utilities

The Glasgow Electric Plant Board

The Glasgow Electric Plant Board is the municipally owned provider of electricity, cable television, and high-speed internet services for the city of Glasgow. Operations for the Glasgow EPB began on January 1st, 1962, meaning that 2022 marks the 60th anniversary for the Glasgow EPB. In 2022, we have celebrated our 60th year of serving the community we call home by continuing the mission of the community visionaries who played a part in the creation of our utility. That mission is to serve Glasgow with a focus on convenience, reliability, and affordability.

Along with the festivities, Glasgow EPB has introduced new branding in 2022. This includes a new emblem that features the name of the community we serve in addition to a new online home, GlasgowEPB.com. On the new website for the Glasgow EPB, customers can easily find information about our offerings, apply for Glasgow EPB services, and submit service support tickets online. Those interested in learning more about the 60-year history of the Glasgow EPB can even find a timeline of major milestones at GlasgowEPB.com/60th.

Looking to 2023 and beyond, the Glasgow EPB is incredibly excited for the future. Upcoming projects will better our ability to serve Glasgow's growing energy and broadband needs while keeping customer satisfaction as the central focus of our operations. A couple of these exciting projects include an electric vehicle charging station that will be placed in the heart of downtown Glasgow and a very exciting upgrade to our broadband offerings. Keep up with all the latest going on with the Glasgow EPB by following us on Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram: @GlasgowEPB.

The Glasgow Water Company (GWC)

Glasgow Water Company (GWC) is a municipally owned water and wastewater utility that has been serving the community since 1934. GWC serves approximately 18,000 water customers and 2,500 sewer customers in Barren County. In addition to our own customers, we wholesale water to 5 other water systems in surrounding counties. In July, Scott Young retired from GWC after serving as the General Manager for the past 16 years and Engineering Manager, Joe Watson, was selected to be the new General Manager. Under Joe's management, GWC looks forward to continuing our commitment to providing the highest quality water and wastewater services at the lowest possible cost, while continuing our commitment to meet the needs of today's customers, as well as future generations. This commitment has led Glasgow Water Company to its 16th consecutive Area-Wide Optimization Program (AWOP) designation and one of only six utilities in the state that achieved both AWOP and AWOP Disinfectants and Disinfection By-Products (DPB) goals related to treating drinking water. These awards are representative of the hard work and dedication of the GWC employees to provide quality drinking water. In efforts to continue meeting the future needs of our customers, GWC has budgeted over $5 million in projects to enhance and improve the water distribution system. GWC is proud to serve our customers and looks forward to being a valued partner within the community.

Cavland Environmental Authority

CEA owns, operates, and maintains the Cave City and the Horse Cave Wastewater Treatment Plants and Pretreatment Plant which serve the Cave City, Park City, Mammoth Cave, Horse Cave, Bonnieville, and the Chalybeate area sewer systems. CEA also provides and maintains water service for Cave City, Park City and Mammoth Cave. Cavland Environmental Authority, Inc. has our own construction division. The professional construction crews of CEA make it possible to do all of their own water and sewer construction which provides a significant cost savings for their customers. CEA's Environmental Division provides quality portable restroom rentals and restroom trailers for the South Central Kentucky area. Industrial pumping needs such as restaurant grease traps, car wash grit tanks, oil/water separators, industrial wastewater, surface and underground storage tanks, and sludge removal are easily met with their state of the art vacuum trucks. The environmental division can respond quickly to emergency situations such as spills. Customers can be confident that their waste will be transported and disposed of at one of CEA's treatment plants.

Cavland Environmental Authority, Inc. is very involved within the community. CEA has sponsored local, state, and national organizations and public schools. CEA is a continuing sponsor of Environmental Education both for local schools and the general public. Cavland Environmental Authority, Inc. has and will continue to grow in our knowledge and expertise in an effort to meet the needs of the communities we serve while placing environmental protection as a top priority. CEA has and will continue to take great strides in preserving the resources of today to allow for a cleaner and safer environment for the generations of tomorrow.

Farmers RECC

Farmers RECC is a not-for-profit electric cooperative, serving more than 26,000 services across eleven Kentucky counties, with a mission to provide reliable, competitively-priced energy that will enhance the quality of life for our member-owners and communities.

In Barren County, Farmers RECC, in conjunction with their power supplier, East Kentucky Power Cooperative, operates the Glasgow Landfill-Gas-To-Energy (LFGTE) plant. The plant harvests methane from the Glasgow Landfill and turns it into electricity, powering approximately 500 homes in the area.

The project was designed to be easily expanded as the landfill grows and more methane gas is produced.

In addition, the LFGTE project is providing a backup source of power to the Glasgow Water Company's waste water treatment plant, saving them from having to make a considerable investment to provide their own backup power source.

Farmers RECC was also able to assist the T.J. Community Mission Foundation by securing a $2 Million zero-interest loan through the USDA Rural Economic Development Loan (REDLG) program. The loan aided in construction of the T. J. Community Mission Foundation Shanti Niketan Hospice Home.

The 10,400 square foot facility, located on Glenview Drive, opened in 2021 and included 8 inpatient rooms, kitchen and living spaces, and private areas for families and guests.

The loan funds were disbursed to the T. J. Community Mission Foundation and will be re-paid over time through donations to the Foundation and normal operations of the Hospice Home.

South Central Rural Telecommunication Cooperative (SCRTC)

South Central Rural Telecommunication Cooperative (SCRTC) was formed in 1950 to provide telephone service in local areas where larger providers would not serve. In 1995, they began offering internet services, and in 2002 added Digital Television as part of their lineup. Due to the vast changes in the communication industry, SCRTC has diversified their services to remain a vibrant and growing company for over 70 years. In addition to phone, TV and Internet, services now also include security, personal emergency response systems (PERS), surveillance, Wi-Fi, Hosted PBX (VoIP), metro ethernet and commercial advertising.

What makes SCRTC's services so impressive is their vast coverage area. Reaching into ten counties, the SCRTC service area starts at the Tennessee boarder near Gamaliel and goes as far north as Hodgenville. SCRTC reaches Barren, Hart, Metcalfe, Monroe, Green, Larue, Adair, Allen, Edmonson and Nelson counties, servicing over 26,000 customers. Serving these customers are 135 employees ranging from linemen, construction, accounting, plant engineering, marketing, IT, special equipment, central office engineering, customer service, warehousing, mechanics and more.

The communication industry is challenging. The rules are changing and the industry is developing more quickly than others. SCRTC is committed to serving their members using hometown people employed from our area and offering reliable services, doing so with cooperative values and integrity. SCRTC strives to provide the best service the industry has to offer; that's most crucial in the communications industry.

SCRTC is a key member with Barren Inc. in providing services to both business and residential customers in our area. SCRTC is proud to have worked with Barren Inc. on major industrial park upgrades and new developments. They have built a strong relationship with this organization and will continue collaborating to build an even stronger community.

Barren County Tourism

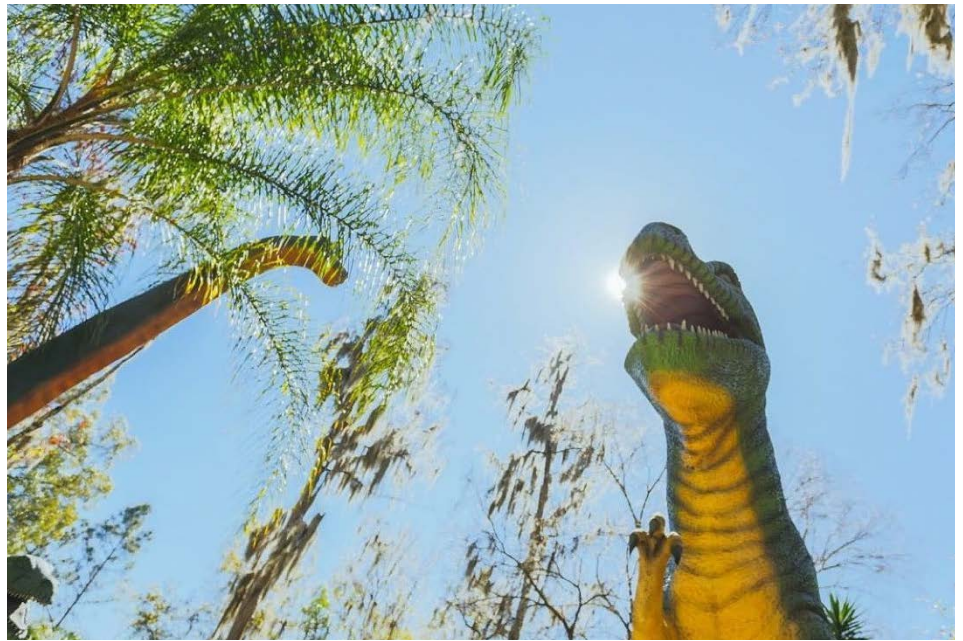

Cave Country has long been a tourism mecca for not only the state of Kentucky, but the entire United States, and once Mammoth Cave became the official longest cave system in the world, tourists began flocking in from all over the globe. Barren County's tourism industry was built on the legendary cave system that Glasgow and the surrounding countryside sits on. However, the above - ground outdoor adventure offerings should not be discounted. As if the vast array of hiking, biking, horseback riding, and water trails are not impressive enough, many of them sit in the county's National Park, State Park, and State Nature Preserve. Other popular tourist to-dos are agritourism destinations such as Kenny's Farmhouse Cheese where you can taste test an array of phenomenal cheeses after a tour of the farm, or Legacy Dairy where you can bottle feed a calf or drink state fair winning milk. Not to mention Glasgow's charming downtown that houses not only the historic Plaza Theatre that has offered live concerts and plays for generations, and boasts a history of performers including names like Lorretta Lynn and Whiskey

Myers, but also a healthy variety of locally owned boutiques, drinkeries, and restaurants. These as sets accompanied with recent energy and growth are truly shaping the area into a Southern Kentucky destination.

This became even more apparent during the COVID pandemic as the overall tourism industry took a heavy hit, yet the local tourism industry flourished. 2021 was a banner year for Glasgow-Barren County Tourism with $78.6 million in direct visitor spending and over $100 million in total visitor spending. These outcomes are the highest ever for the area and an increase of 33% from 2020, which exceeded the previous increase of 14% from 2019 to 2020. "Barren County's unique footing as an outdoor adventure destination in a central location within driving distance from many states made it a premier vacation choice during a time when travelers were looking for open spaces, serene moments, and peaceful rural landscapes," said MacLean Lessenberry, Executive Director of Glasgow-Barren County Tourist & Convention Commission.

Although the great outdoors is the top reason people visit, there are many others following that include the Scottish heritage, the Civil War history, and the overall small town ambiance. As the official destination marketing organization for Glasgow and Barren County, Glasgow-Barren County Tourist & Convention Commission promotes the community overall and ensures that everyone knows the area is worth the trip, no matter the reason. The organization's mission is to develop and market Glasgow and the surrounding area as a welcoming destination for visitors. A true, unwavering belief in the county's ability to grow and thrive through forward thinking and dedication to the region is at the very core of the commission and its work. Judge Executive Micheal Hale noted that he often encounters travelers in downtown Glasgow who are in town for the plethora of outdoor adventure options, but are out experiencing the rest of the amenities offered. "Tourism is a vital part of the local economy as well as a key driver behind quality of life development in the area, which directly impacts the growth of industry. Companies desire to be located in cities that have great amenities-and usually those amenities align with the types of experiences that tourists want to have, which is why a vibrant tourism sector is indispensable." Glasgow-Barren County Tourism's main office and visitors center is located at 118 East Public Square in Glasgow, and a staffed kiosk can be found inside of the Visitors Center in Mammoth Cave National Park. Guests to the area, as well as locals, can learn more at betterinthebarrens.com and can follow the organization on Facebook, Instagram, Twitter, Pinterest, LinkedIn, YouTube, and TikTok.

Home Away From Home

Barren County- a great place to stay!

Balcony on Broadway

The words “Home away from home” evokes a nice cozy feel. While traditional lodging is a solid option, travelers also have the ability to stay in locations with quite a bit more personality. Barren County is home to several of these treasures.

“An atmosphere that’s your historic home away from home” is the motto for Hall Place in Glasgow. This Bed and Breakfast is the place to stay for those that love southern hospitality. Owner Sharla Emmers loves to cook and feed people from all over and she’s found her niche by going beyond a traditional bed and breakfast by opening up “Smokin Eats” to the public to enjoy the food she prepares for her guests. Sharla says that “People want some place fun and different and they can immediately feel at home here at Hall Place.”

“Every day I get to meet people who feel just like family,” says owner Cherie Vaughn about her Main Street Bed and Breakfast. Cherie was working four jobs to pay for a one-bedroom house in Denver in 2018. So when her friend talked her into coming to look at operating a bed and breakfast, she and her dog packed up and came to Glasgow where she says she meets friends daily in her 200 year old home. Here, visitors can choose from one of four rooms, or “the cottage”, which was once the house kitchen.

“We travel to lots of small towns that are starting to revitalize. We want to be a part of that in Glasgow. If you want to do something, then do it. Be a part of change. Make it better.” Beth Wagner’s words are the inspiration behind her two “home away from homes”. Beth owns “Balcony on Broadway” and “The Wilbur”. These modern accommodations bring charm to the Glasgow square. As the name implies, the roof is a key feature of “Balcony on Broadway” complete with the perfect view of the square to be enjoyed in this exposed brick personality loft. While “The Wilbur” boasts a contemporary style where the visitor can literally step out onto the Glasgow square.

The market for “home away from home” is growing as people focus on unique experiences. Barren County’s options capitalize on this need by creating memories and friendships through overnight stays. Travelers searching for contemporary or historic can find it in unique personalities at the local options.

Cave City Convention Center

SPOTLIGHT

The Cave City Convention Center is one of South Central Kentucky's premier meeting spaces. The convention center is located just off interstate 65 at exit 53, midway between Louisville and Nashville, making it centrally located for associations across the state. This full-service facility in the heart of Cave Country host 110-120 events annually ranging from 25 people to 2,000 in attendance from Chamber of Commerce signature events, company holiday parties to the annual teacher's banquet, the center will see as many as 15,000 people come through its doors each year.

This 12,000 square foot facility houses the main auditorium with seating for up to 700 as well as six breakout rooms for small gatherings or meetings. The Center has five full-time and five part-time staff, and partners with Diane's Cakes and Catering for all their event catering needs. This team works together to bring over $1,000,000 in economic impact to the community each year.

The Cave City Convention Center is located at 502 Mammoth Cave St, Cave City, Kentucky.

Shop Local to a Whole New Level

Collaboration on the Square

Barren County has an abundance of small, unique boutiques and gift shops in all parts of the county, everything from handmade crafts such as woodwork, hand poured candles, and jewelry to beautiful home décor, awards, wedding gifts, baby gifts and an outfit for any occasion. What makes our shops exceptional though is the partnerships you find between the various shop owners.

When we talk about supporting local, we are typically engaging with the community at large to support small business, but what happens when those business start working together to promote each other collectively. That is something truly special.

It all started with a social media message. Sophie Wood, owner of Green Street Gifts took the initiative to reach out to eight other retail businesses around the Glasgow Square about starting a sidewalk sale, she was met with very willing participants. Logos were created, and Vintique's Veronika Wells designed a brochure with a map pinpointing each participating business's location and was sent to people around the square to visit the many different stores. Together Awards Inc., Green Street Gifts, Off the Square, Roots & Ramble Boutique, Spring Valley Boutique, The Good Wife House of Lingerie & Beauty and Vintique's vision was to create a fun environment for downtown.

Each business promotes the different events on social media and spreads the word to visiting customers about the upcoming collaborations. In addition to the sidewalk sales, the business owners collaborate on a number of other events such as back to school sales, Sip, Shop & Stroll, Shindig on the Scare in October, Small Business Saturday, and Christmas Open Houses. Each owner asks what the customer coming in is looking for and points them in the right direction of other local businesses if they do not carry what the customer is looking for.

This collaboration works so well because each business owner is supportive of the other. They all have a similar vision for growing downtown and bringing people to the square.

Because Dance is for Everyone - SOMA

SOMA Center for Dance, owned and directed by Trevor Dylan Edwards, is on a mission to make high-quality, cutting-edge dance education more accessible to everyday people because dance is for everybody.

"I became interested in dance when I was in the Glasgow Scottie Band. My clarinet private lessons teacher, Pam Yakel, said I was born to be a dancer. She was the first person to help me confirm that is what I wanted to do. She saw the potential in me, and then before I knew it, I had a full scholarship to WKU."

Trevor, a graduate of Western Kentucky University with a B.A. in Dance and Performing Arts Administration, is a Glasgow native who desired to be an educator with the flexibility and freedom of creating his own work.

"I picked Glasgow because I wanted young people here to have the training to help them succeed. I knew I wanted to teach concert dance and bring excellence here by teaching the history, technique, and terminology that provides the foundational skills that students need to go to the next level of dance."

SOMA offers a wide range of classes and programs throughout the year. Students can participate in performances, competition teams and summer camps such as Sparks!, Smart Training, LevelUp and Summer Series.

"My favorite part about SOMA is the community that we have built together. It's so special to watch students grow together and see the techniques being used. They get to have a lot of fun doing the shows and it's clear they are having a great time."

The instructors at SOMA teach ballet, tumbling, modern dance, jazz, contemporary, pointe, tap, hip hop, and improv classes. There are 4 annual performances a year: 2 advance company only and 2 everyone dances. Every winter SOMA presents the Nutcracker, a true highlight of the year.

"My biggest influencer in business is Christina Rice, a business coach, who was featured in Forbes for advocating for women of color in the health and wellness space. I listen to her podcast about business energetics and creating a business that is sustainable. She taught me that I should not get caught up on the things that we have to do, and to not be afraid to shift. If something isn't working, then let it go. As for my biggest influencer in dance, it would be Candie McCord with the Stephen Foster Association in Bardstown. I have danced with her every year since college."

SOMA recently introduced Pay-what-you-can Pricing because they believe that dance should be accessible to everyone, and that cost should never prevent someone with a passion from getting the education they deserve.

"As for 2023 plans, I am very excited about upcoming shows - Eden recreating the creation story of the Bible through dance, with original ballet. We will be doing Alice in Wonderland, and expanding our classes to offer more acting, vocals, and visual arts."

It is evident that SOMA values passion and expression that can be demonstrated through dance. Everyone can dance, as long as you are moving you are dancing.

OUTDOOR VENUE & DRINKERY

Glasgow's Diamond that Came from Covid

Take yourself back to March 2020. What were you thinking? If you were a business owner it won't take long for you to recount the questions that you had. Will they really close my doors? How will I pay my bills, my employees? Will they be able to support their families? Will I be able to provide for my family? We remember that as a stressful time filled with many questions and few answers.

Having raised a family in Glasgow, the Heltsley family was familiar with the complaint about the lack of activities available for youth, specifically the absence of a place for kids to call their own. That was the driving force behind the investment the Heltsley's and their extended family members made in 2012 with the purchase of the 65,000 square foot vacant building that previously housed the Carhartt Distribution Center and Handmacher Garment Factory. The new owners' investment included repurposing the building to bring Ralphie's Fun Center to the community. In addition to arcades and Laser Tag, they built a skating rink and a state of the art bowling alley that has hosted high school district, regional, and state tournaments. They have served as hosts to large community events and expos and expanded to offer full food service.

The growth meant that Jason Kuykendall would leave his job in 2014 as a geologist to oversee the family business. At one point during his management, Jason noticed that their property lines included some wooded acreage on the back side of the property. But, as it happens during the growth mode of a new business, there was never time to explore exactly what was available there.

Return to March 2020. March 22, 2020 at 9 am to be exact. The governor issued an executive order mandating that all non life-sustaining retail businesses were to be closed. Like so many other businesses, Ralphie's could not avoid closure. Filled with all the emotions every business owner felt on that day, as he locked the doors and turned his back to his family business, Jason found himself facing that wooded area on the back of the property. Fifteen minutes did not pass before he had a chainsaw fired up and axes swinging, clearing a path in the overgrown woods. In the days and weeks to come, the more he cleared, the more the vision came into focus for The Grove.

By the time the doors to Ralphie's Fun Center reopened in June 2020, the wooded area on the back side of the property had been cleared, a stage had been built, and the outdoor venue was ready to meet the concerns of people needing to gather for entertainment and meeting space in a safe, outdoor, open-air facility.

The Grove's first national touring act to perform was Michael Cleveland in October 2020. The first full season of 2021 brought branding, social media platforms, consistent growth, and shows including: The Josephines, Forever Abbey Road, and the John Prine Tribute night.

A diamond is a chunk of coal that did well under pressure.

Knowing that 2022 would mark a year of returning to some sense of normalcy, the team at The Grove was determined to achieve regional recognition as an outdoor venue. The season opened in April with The Travelin' McCourys. Other headlining bands to perform included Keller Williams and The Local Honeys. They have also expanded to rentals for weddings, meetings, dinners, parties and events. The Grove has also partnered with many community and non-profit organizations to host outdoor events.

Future plans include the addition of a VIP Treehouse section for an elevated perspective of performances. The opening show for 2023 will be announced prior to the new year and a full schedule is planned. A current listing will be available on all social media outlets of The Grove.

It is said that "a diamond is a chunk of coal that did well under pressure." The Covid pandemic brought much stress and pressure to many business owners. It is beautiful to see the new diamonds in our community, such as The Grove, that emerged from that time.

Thank an Ag Teacher

As the morning dew glistens on the fescue and clover while the buzz of a mower moves across the fields in all stretches of the county, there is a common theme you will hear. “Yes, I took an Ag class in high school.”

In the foreground, there may be spring calves frolicking about as they finish up the morning nursing at the side of their mamas. Just down the road a bit you will likely see blooming soybeans whose acreage now far exceeds that of the burley that sustained us for generations.

A newcomer to the area may wonder how Barren County came to become so productive in many areas. It obviously did not happen overnight. “We have been abundantly blessed with extremely productive soil in this region” says current Ag Extension Agent, (Ag teacher in Barren County for 20 years), Chris Schalk. “But using the soil appropriately requires knowledge, education.”

From the last recorded count, we find ourselves surrounded by over 250,000 acres of land in agriculture production (kyagr.com). What it is being used for, has been guided by some of the best. How did Barren County farmers become great at what they do? The ability to adapt, evolve, keep up with the times; whatever you desire to call it, farming has always been and is a constantly changing venture. Most of the county’s Production Agriculturists were educated here locally in Agriculture and were members of FFA.

The names of Jewell Colliver, Frank Newberry and Aaron Bates from years ago will be familiar to many. Generations of us also learned from teachers and FFA Advisors including, but not limited to, Jerry Greer, James W. Bailey, Frank Rowland, and Chris Schalk.

These are just some of the men who took 13- to 18-year-olds from chopping out tobacco and feeding baby Holsteins on their family’s farm and helped them develop the skill and confidence to help become part of the world’s most productive farmers.

Yes, technology has played a large role in helping farms to become more productive. It was estimated that in 1960 one farm fed themselves and 26 others (farmflavor.com). Today, farms are feeding themselves and about 166 here and around the world (fb.org).

But someone had to teach others how to capitalize on these improvements in equipment and technology. The advancements in methodology over the last sixty years is mind boggling!

Although James Bailey and Frank Rowland may be retired after teaching Agriculture at Barren County High School from its opening day in 1973 until 1997 and 1999, respectively, you will still find them involved in Barren County agriculture; somehow, somehow, every day.

After breakfast at George J’s, it may be off to a meeting at the Extension office, a Barren County Farm Bureau meeting or assisting the Temple Hill Lion’s Club with hosting Livestock shows. We as a community owe much to those who work to also teach youth that without labor, neither knowledge nor wisdom can accomplish much.

Next time you are driving along and notice the cattle, hay and grain fields dominating the beautiful landscape, you may remember Paul Harvey sharing the phrase, “So God made a Farmer.”
